NICKOLS-THOMAS

At the twentieth annual reunion of the Nickols-Thomas family you elected me historian, to prepare a genealogical and historical sketch of the family, and pursuant to that election I now report.

We date the family, in Ohio, from our grandmother, Sarah Thomas Nickols, who came to this neighborhood, then Marion county, Ohio, in the year 1827, with her numerous family of eight daughters and four sons, and located immediately south of Mt. Gilead, then called Youngstown, in honor of Jacob Young, who laid out the village. Afterwards the name was changed, because of another more prominent Youngstown in Mahoning county, Ohio, to Mt. Gilead, in honor of a village in Loudoun county, Virginia, from which county she emigrated to Ohio.

About the year 1825 our grandfather, Nathan Nickols, jr., contracted to sell his farm,* which was located in the Piedmont Valley in Virginia, and which lay partly on the mountain side and partly in the valley on the east side of the Blue Ridge mountains, between Round Hill and Bluemont (then Snickersville,) and coming to Ohio on horseback, bought of Lodovic Hardenbrook, a soldier of the Revolution, the one hundred and sixty acres of land immediately south of Mt. Gilead. He also bought of the government five other quarter sections, in all, nine hundred and sixty acres of land in the vicinity of Mt. Gilead, planning to settle his family, and give each one a small farm.

He returned to Virginia and in March, 1827, while loading fertilizer at Leesburg, Virginia, he ruptured a blood vessel, and died March 21st, 1827. Two of the children, Mahala and Mordecai, had previously died in childhood, and the graves of the three yet remain in Virginia.

When grandfather died on that March day in 1827, it was a more than ordinarily sad time for our heroic old grandmother and family, for the Virginia farm was contracted to be sold, nearly a thousand acres of land were bought in Ohio, and she and the twelve children remained, the oldest of whom, uncle John, was in his twenty-fifth year of age, and the youngest, uncle Nathan, was a babe not quite eleven months old.

Grandmother was advised to give up the emigration to Ohio, but she said "she believed Nathan had divine guidance in making the plans and she would do her best to carry out his plans," which she did.

I do not know just the date of starting or arrival here, but she came in the summer of 1827. I am certain that she had no airship or aeroplane, or dirigible balloon to waft her to Ohio in a few hours, or railroad train to bring her in a day and night, as we have come; but I do know that she loaded her goods and twelve children into covered wagons, with provisions for the journey of many days, and took the road thru Snicker's Gap in the Blue Ridge mountains and came thru the Allegheny mountains on the old National Pike part of the way, and thru an almost trackless forest, to this land of promise. I cannot give you the events of that journey, but you can readily imagine them for yourselves. When she arrived she found many Indians still here, but peaceable.

On April 5th, 1832, she wrote a letter to her mother, Martha Davis Thomas, in Virginia, (and I have that letter in my possession) in which, among other things, she wrote this : I have met with a good many difficulties since I have been here, but I have made out to get through them all, and am not sorry that I am here, and I wish you were here, for I think you would see more satisfaction here than you do there, for we all live in peace and harmony."

I do not know how grandmother managed for a home at first, but she was contented. Soon a brick house was built on the location where John Dawson now resides, for the building of which, grandfather Nathan gave $1000.00 in his last will. She planted an orchard west of and adjoining her house, with trees from the nurseries of Jonathan Chapman, nicknamed "Johnny Appleseed." There grandmother lived in "peace and harmony" until June 23d, 1839, when she departed this life. Her grave is near the southwest corner of the old cemetery in Mt. Gilead, O. For two generations the family had been Friends or Quakers, and uncle George was of that denomination at his death in September, 1885.

After her arrival in Ohio, grandmother entered five more quarter-sections of government land in her vicinity, for it was grandfather's plan to give each one of the twelve children one hundred and sixty acres of land, and have them settle near each other, so that in the end the family owned seventeen hundred and sixty acres of land, only a small portion of which is yet owned by the descendants of grandfather and grandmother Nickols. Cousin George O. Coe owns one half of his mother's ancestral homestead, and Ella and William Detwiler own the other half. Ella Blaney Detwiler is a granddaughter of Margaret Nickols Coe and a great-granddaughter of Nathan and Sarah Thomas Nickols.

I think you all thank God today that you are descended from such a heroine as grandmother Sarah Thomas Nickols.

You doubtless want to know something of the genealogy of your ancestors.

Grandfather Nathan always signed junior to his name, and he spelled his name N-i-c-k-o-l-s, and I have his genuine signature. He was born November 30th, 1780, and died March 21st, 1827. His father was Nathan Nickols, Sr., and James Nickols was his grandfather, all born, reared and died in Loudoun county, Virginia. Grandfather Nathan, Jr. owned two slaves at his death, Oliver and Susannah, whom he freed by his last will, and they came to Ohio with grandmother and on the way settled in Belmont county, Ohio.

Grandmother Sarah Thomas Nickols was the daughter of Owen Thomas, who was born July 9th, 1754, and Martha Davis Thomas. Grandmother was born in Loudoun county, Virginia, June 13th, 1782 and as nearly as I can learn she had four sisters, Susannah, who married John Ross, Ruth, (known as little Ruth,) Ann and Matilda, and three brothers, Joseph, Philip and Jesse Thomas, the latter of whom settled in Richhill township, Muskingum county, Ohio, before October 13th, 1823, as I have a letter written by him to his mother, Martha Davis Thomas, in Virginia, from Richhill township, of that date. He visited in this (Morrow) county in 1848 or 1849. I have not been able to learn anything of his descendants.

Philip Thomas (known as "Uncle Phil") was also a brother to our grandmother, Sarah Thomas Nickols, and came to Ohio with her and settled near her. Many of the cousins here today well remember "Uncle Phil," and his ejaculations of "Praise to God," as he drove along the road. He was a man of great piety and honesty, and the ejaculations are not mentioned in any spirit of levity, but of respect. His only living descendants are two great grandchildren. Bert C. Thomas, a clerk in the office of Insular Affairs in the War Department, Washington D. C., and Miss Bessie Thomas, (Bert's sister) of Columbus, O.

Joseph Thomas was another brother of Grandmother Sarah, and of the collateral branches descended from Susannah, wife of John Ross, and of Joseph Thomas, I will write further on.

The grandfather of Sarah Thomas Nickols, and father of Owen Thomas, was David Thomas, who was born at London Tract, Pennsylvania, August 16th, 1726. He was educated at Hopewell, New Jersey, and the degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon him in 1769, by Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island, which was founded by the Baptists about the year 1750.

He became a Baptist preacher and missionary and came to the Piedmont Valley in Virginia before the year 1765, and "after many years of arduous and successful labors in Virginia, during which time he founded seven or eight churches, and served Broad Run, Occoquan, Mill Creek and Cherry Grove as pastor," in the year 1778 he built a stone building at Cherry Grove for a church, school and residence (with sliding partitions) at the foot of the Blue Ridge mountains, between Round Hill and Bluemont, Virginia. On June 12th, 1909, I saw the old church, which is in a good state of preservation and in use for Sabbath school. "He was, in Virginia, a champion of civil and religious liberty, and suffered severe persecutions. He was a contemporary of Patrick Henry and Thomas Jefferson and was held by both of them in high esteem." He was a little older than either of them, and he highly valued them as friends of liberty, before and during the Revolutionary period.

"Later in the eighteenth century he moved to Kentucky where he became pastor of Washington church in Mason county, Kentucky, and afterwards went to Jessamine county, Kentucky, where he died July 5th, 1796. I have seen his last will, which was executed June 23d, 1796, and probated (and is of record) in probate court at Leesburg, Virginia, September 12th, 1796. He married August 15th, 1753. His wife was the widow Shriede whose maiden name was Ruth Rogers. She was born February 25th, 1727, and died March 30th, 1794, and was of English descent. They were the father and mother of our great grandfather, Owen Thomas, who married Martha Davis, the Quakeress, of Pennsylvania.

The father of David Thomas, the Baptist preacher and patriot, and the great grandfather of Sarah Thomas Nickols, was also named David Thomas. He was a Welshman and came from Wales early in the 18th century and settled at Guinead, Bucks county, Pennsylvania. To the oldest set of first cousins here today, he was our great, great, great grandfather. He was only one of sixteen, of various degrees. It is a rather curious fact, that in ten generations of one's ancestry, one well born, has ten hundred and twenty-two grandfathers of the various degrees of consanguinity, and also one thousand and twenty-two grandmothers. It is so ; figure it out for yourselves. One half is in the maternal, and one half in the paternal line.

I am sure you want to know more of the children who were brought by grandmother to Ohio from Loudoun county, Virginia, in 1827.

1st. Uncle John Nickols was the oldest. He was born November 30th, 1802, and he married Tacy Nickols, a distant relative in Virginia, before 1827. He was a skillful hunter, and could throw a stone and kill a squirrel nearly as well as with a rifle, and it is said that he once brought down a porcupine from a tree, nearly ninety feet up, at the second throw, with a stone. In a few years people became too plenty, and he sold his farm and cabin, east of, and adjoining Mt. Gilead, and went to Dade county, Missouri.

He served as a soldier the first year of the war with Mexico. In the Civil war he and his family were on the Confederate side, and his son Swithen, whose legs were stopped in their growth when he was a small boy, by a dose of calomel, given by an incompetent doctor, was a caval-ryman on the rebel side. He could mount a horse by swinging himself on by his strong arms. I know but little of Uncle John's family.

2d. Aunt Ruth Nickols, the oldest daughter, who was married to Alben Coe, Sr., in Virginia before Grandfather Nathan's death, was born November 3d, 1805, and died January 22nd, 1848. Her grave is in River Cliff cemetery, Mt. Gilead, Ohio, beside that of uncle Alben, who died April 11th, 1869. Their children were Nathan Nickols Coe, born May 10th, 1823, in Loudoun county, Virginia, and died in Morrow county, Ohio, October 27th, 1890.

Sarah Elizabeth Coe, who married Joseph Patten, died October 18th, 1897, aged nearly seventy-two and a half years.

William Coe, born March 20th, 1827, in Ohio. He served in the Civil war in Company I, 88th regiment, O. V. I. Died April 15th, 1895. The graves of these last three are in River Cliff cemetery.

John Ross Coe, born-----, died March 9th, 1905, at Woodburn, Oregon, aged 75 years. His grave is at Napa, California.

Martha Jane Coe, born-----. Her first marriage was to William L. Summers, and after his death she married Capt. J. O. McDonald, late Co. B, 43d Regiment, O. V. I. She died October 18th, 1897.

Emma, who married William Logan, late Serg't Co. K, 9th Regiment, O. V. Cav.

Captain Alben Coe, Jr., Serg't Co. C, 64th Regiment, O. V. I. and late Captain Co. E, 9th O. V. Cav.

All these children are dead, and the last one to die was Captain Alben Coe, who died June 15, 1908. Five of these died in Morrow county, Ohio. The descendants of aunt Ruth Nickols Coe are fully forty-five, and include the fourth generation from her.

→ 3d. George Nickols, the second son, was born May 24th, 1807, and died September 18th, 1885, at his home in Morrow county, Ohio, and is buried in River Cliff cemetery, Mt. Gilead. He went back to Virginia for his first wife, who was Julia Ann Bradfield, and by whom he had nine children, two dying in infancy. She died July 12th, 1845. Her children were Sarah, who married Thomas Wallace. The Wallace children reside in Tama county, Iowa.

Matilda, who married William Farris, November 10th, 1853. He served as a soldier in Company I, 3d, and Company C, 96th, Regiments O. V. I. The Farris children reside at Ellsworth, Kansas.

Alcinda, who married James K. Waltermire April 23d, 1855, and some of whose children reside at Forest, Ohio.

Ruth, who married Franklin Waltermire, December 9th, 1855, and whose children are in Colorado.

Julia Ann, who married Thomas Brown, and their descendants reside near Rock Island, Illinois.

Tamzen, who married Joseph Fluckey, October 7th, 1861, their children residing at-----, Nebraska.

And Abner Nickols, who resides at Nevada, Missouri.

About four years after the death of aunt Julia A., uncle George married Athanissa Spencer in 1849, by whom he had seven children, two of whom, Jonah and Ellsworth, died in childhood. The other five are Joel, John, George Warren, Eunice, who married Ezekiel McPeck, and Etta, who married Riley McPeck. All except Eunice McPeck are living and (except Joel) in Morrow county, Ohio.

Uncle George's sixteen children comprised the largest of the twelve families, and they and their descendants to the fourth generation are more than seventy.

4th. Albert Nickols, the third son, was born June 28th, 1808. He married Rachel Miller and on September 19, 1833, lost a son, John M., aged seven months, whose grave is near that of grandmother's in the old cemetery at Mt. Gilead, Ohio. Uncle Albert and family emigrated to Cole Camp, Benton county, Missouri, in 1834 or 1835. But little is known of his family. He was a soldier in the second year of the Mexican war, and in California in 1850, and on his return journey visited in this county. During the Civil war he and his family were reported to be staunch Unionists. He died May 2d, 1866, and his wife, Rachel, February 25th, 1874, in Cole Camp, Benton county, Missouri. Their children were ten, only one of whom, Theodore Benton Nickols, of Morris, Oklahoma, yet survives. The children were Martha, Jane, John, Nathan, Almira, Sarah, Louisa, Mary Susan, born March 10th, 1847, married T. M. Berry March 23d, 1866, and died February 14, 1908; to this union nine children, seven sons and two daughters, were born. Albert Berry, grandson of uncle Albert Nickols, lives in Texas, and Mrs. Nettles in Ada, Oklahoma.

Theodore Benton Nickols, born September 10th, 1849; a son unnamed who died in childhood, and Charles Henry Nickols. Except Theodore Benton these children all lived in Benton county, Missouri.

5th. Harriet Nickols, the second daughter brought to Ohio by grandmother, married Robert F. Hickman, April 14th, 1831, at Mt. Gilead, Ohio. She was born March 30th, 1810, and died at Somerset, Perry county, Ohio, November 2d, 1842. Their oldest daughter, Mary Frances, was born January 23d, 1832, and died April 1st, 1832. Wesley Clark, the oldest son, was born December 30, 1832, at Chesterville, Morrow (then Knox) county, Ohio. He served over three years in Company I, 5th regiment, O. V. I., and was severely wounded in battle. He died at Nelsonville, Athens county, Ohio, November 10th, 1898.

Under grandfather's will he inherited, at grandmother's death, the old homestead of one hundred and sixty acres next south of Mt. Gilead, Ohio, in which the old homestead of Wm. Miller, deceased, (now owned by his widow and son) and the Agricultural Society fair grounds are included. He was first married to Orpha Bufington, foster daughter of Joseph Smith, and to them three sons were born; first, twins, (one of whom died in childhood) and John B. S., who married Miss Ella Sanderson March 11th, 1874, and died leaving her his widow, and then Melville W., who died in the hospital at Nashville, Tennessee, February 19th, 1865. He was a soldier in Company A, 174th Regiment O. V. I. His grave is in section G, grave 782, Nashville National cemetery.

Uncle Nathan's second marriage was to Sarah A. Huffmire, who died December 11th, 1867. One daughter, Rosa Belle Marie (who married Edgar Martin), was born to them. Rosa Belle Marie Martin and family reside at Macomb, Illinois, and she is a widow.

His third marriage was to Mary Dean October—, 1868, and their son, William Nickols resides at Centerburg, Knox county, Ohio.

His fourth marriage was to Elizabeth Camp, a widow, whose maiden name was Kellough, and to them one daughter, Carrie, was born. She married ——— Curtis, and she and husband reside at Prairie City, Illinois. He, Nathan, and his wife Elizabeth are buried in the cemetery at Macomb, Illinois.

Uncle Nathan's descendants are about nine.

The descendants of our grandmother are all found on the side of Temperance, and of every moral and progressive issue.

The family of our grandmother Sarah Thomas Nickols was held in high respect. It was a genuine amiable Virginia family and showed the hospitality for which the people of that state were, and are, noted. She says they lived in "peace and harmony." They had to. There were so many of them, it would not do to quarrel. You know whereof I write. You recall the amiability of our aunts and uncles and cousins.

I think we never visit the grave of our grandmother but we silently compose a prayer of benediction to her memory.

Her descendants are nearly five hundred. "After life's fitful fever, she sleeps well."

You want to know something about our kin yet living in Virginia and in the west. Susannah, or Susan Thomas, a sister to grandmother, married John Ross and they reared a family of several children in Loudoun county, Virginia, some of whose names were William Ross, John Thomas Ross, Albert Ross and Franklin Ross. The latter moved to Weston, Geary county, Kansas, and his descendants are in or near there.

Albert Ross emigrated to Marshall, Clark county, Illinois, and his descendants are there.

The children of John Thomas Ross, who died February 14th, 1899, are living in Loudoun county, Virginia; viz: Fenton Thomas Ross, Ida L. Otley and Mary Anna Chamblin at Bluemont, Virginia, and Turner J. Ross, Upperville, Virginia. They are your second cousins.

Joseph Thomas, a brother to our grandmother, reared a family in Loudoun county, Virginia. His oldest son was Mahlon Thomas, deceased many years ago, whose children yet living are Martha James, Round Hill, Virginia; Margaret Birdsall, Etta Thomas and Hannah Thomas, Purcellville, Virginia; Ruth Nixon, Woodburn, Virginia; Tamar Simpson, Philomont, Virginia, and Virginia Piggott, Silcott Springs, Virginia.

Owen Thomas was also a son of Joseph, and Owen's children are Joseph B. Thomas, Owen I. Thomas and John Davis Thomas, of Round Hill, Virginia; Dr. George H. Thomas, of Romney, West Virginia, and Ruth Lee Rogers, of Barnesville, Ohio.

Martha Thomas, a spinster, who saved every paper with writing on it that she could lay her hands on, was a daughter of Joseph Thomas.

We are indebted to her for the old letters of uncles Jesse and Philip and grandmother, which I have.

Esther Holmes also was a daughter of Joseph Thomas and her son, George W. Holmes, resides near Leesburg, Virginia, that being his post office address.

Ruth, Ann and Matilda Thomas were also sisters to grandmother, but I have not been able to learn anything of their descendants.

It is expected that each member of the family, of Nickols-Thomas blood, will add the genealogy of her or his respective family down to the latest birth, and send a copy of the genealogy added, to me.

With much love to you all, dear cousins, I am

Very sincerely yours

ROBT. F. BARTLETT.
